HAUCK, Friedrich Ludwig

Homburg 1718 – Offenbach 1801

Portraitist of single subjects and conversation pieces, and occasional genre painter; son of Jacob Hauck. Hofmaler at Homburg; brother of August Christian (q.v.). He travelled in Germany and England before settling in Frankfurt in 1744. An oil portrait in the Reichsstadtmuseum in Rotheburg is signed “gemalt 1787 von F. L. Hauck und Sohn”. In 1790 he made a series (including three repetitions) of seven pastels of members of the van Reede family in The Netherlands; they are attributed on the basis of a signature on one, originally transcribed as Zaver in the rKD files. His portraits are said to be more valued for their likenesses than their merit. He engraved some himself, but there are engravings of other portraits by Beringrode, Haid, Schweitzer, Geysler, Göpfert, Koller, Zell and Liebe.
