

Neil Jeffares, Dictionary of pastellists before 1800

Online edition

WELLER, David Friedrich

Kirchberg 1759 – Dresden 1789

Studied and worked in the Meissen factory as a flower painter; he also worked in oil, gouache and watercolour. He produced portraits and history paintings, as well as some pastel portraits, and he is described as “Pastel Mahler in Dresden” when he exhibited a watercolour in Berlin in 1788 (no. 204).

Bibliography

Bénézit; Brieger 1921; Campe 1833; Füssli 1826;
Müller & Singer 1921; Nagler 1835–52